President's Report

Happy New (Club) Year. The 2016-17 annual Club Competition has closed now – remember that all capture forms must be with the Recorder (Mick Peel) by the 14th July. The results will be announced at the Presentation Night in September. This year, the Presentation Night will be held on a Friday – the 1st of September at the Eastlakes Football Club in Kingston.

The recent June outing was the traditional Queen's Birthday long weekend trip to Narooma. This year the fishing was a bit slower than normal, but I heard the quality of fish was good and everyone that attended had a great time.

Next fishing year kicks off with the July outing to Ulladulla. We will be staying at Burrill Lake (the BIG4 Bungalow Park on Burrill Lake), which provides easy access to the estuary and is only a short drive to Ulladulla - a great launching spot for offshore fishing. I plan to head out to the Ulladulla reef if the seas are kind (the kingfish are usually keen on jigs in July), or just hit the beach....maybe both! Put your name down on the attendance sheet circulating in the next meeting if you'd like to come or register your interest on the website.

Following the July outing, we will be holding the AGM, where all positions on the Club Executive and Committee will be up for election. It's important for the Club's future that we have a variety of views on the Committee to make sure we are able to represent the interests of all members. Regardless of the length of time you've spent in the Club, or your fishing knowledge, if you are willing to represent your fellow members then you are the sort of person we need on the Committee - I encourage you to put your name forward. The more nominations we get, the stronger your Committee will be! The AGM will be held on a WEDNESDAY this year (9th August 2017) – it's a busy time of year for the Eastlakes Football Club, so they don't have a room for us on the usual Tuesday. Written nominations must be received by the Secretary (Kevin Spriggs) by 15 July 2013. Nomination forms are provided in this newsletter.

Following on from the AGM, the Canberra Fisherman's Club will be holding our annual Presentation Night on 1st September. Presentation Night is a very important date on the Club calendar where we get an opportunity to show our respect to the trophy winners and acknowledge their achievements. It's always a great event. Please keep the date free – we will provide further details as the date approaches.

Keep safe on the water,

Glen Malam

Secretary's Report

For anyone that hasn't renewed their club membership yet, please do so as soon as possible to avoid missing out on everything our club has to offer. You can renew your membership through the web site.

With the club spending money over the last few years to improve it as per member's requests, more information is being uploaded to and I encourage you to log in and have a look. Those that don't have or forgotten their logon details, email me (secretary@canberrafishos.com) and I will reset your password.

Well Autumn seems to have been very short this year or I'm just getting older and Grumpier.

I attended the Tathra outing and we stayed at different accommodation. Overall, I think it was better but the cabin was a bit small for 6 blokes and not a family of 6.

Most members that attended, including myself, wound up fishing Black Fellows Lagoon, which had only opened to the Bega River the Thursday of the week before but a variety and quality of fish were caught.

I also attended the June Long Weekend Narooma Outing and again, a smaller cabin was found to help keep costs down. If you were a Leather Jacket Fishing expert, you would have had a field as they seemed to be everywhere, in Wagonga Inlet and then off shore, nearly all way from just outside the bait grounds to Montague Island.

I fished Wagonga Inlet on the Saturday and, after finding a nice bait ball (right), got a flounder before I found the Leather Jackets. Then had an afternoon session on Handkerchief Beach with no result.

Sunday morning, I went out to Montague Island with BS Charters and after getting some livies, we headed to the Island. It was certainly tough fishing, but I was able to jig up a couple of Bonitos.

We had changed to a few different locations for not much result. We even had a troll but after being accused of stealing a fish, the next time we hooked up, I left the rod alone and by the time Brian had turned the engine off, a seal was on his fish.

From the reports and all boats seeming to come in early, nobody seemed to be getting any Kings when you could get the line past the Leather Jackets. In the afternoon, I went and tried Cemetery Beach for nothing again.

Anthony Heiser arrived with a non-fishing mate Angus and, as usual, it was the non-fisher catching the fish. On Monday, I accepted an officer and fished with Keith on Coila for a tough session. We were able to troll up a Bream near the end of the session.

The club needs you as members to think about what the club is doing and are encouraging you to put your hand up for the Committee in August, as I for one will not be putting my hand up again. Six years (I think) is a row is long enough, I don't know how some have done it for longer.

Next general Meeting is on Tuesday 11th July 2017 at Eastlakes.

Recorder's Report

Hi Everyone

I hope that you have been able to wet a line in this past month and get some good catches. I was only able to get out for a day outing to Googong since my last report. It was a sunny but cold day on the water. I am surprised with how my casting accuracy has improved after several trips to Googong this year. Where I am casting lures now among the small gaps in the timber I would not have been able to achieve that accuracy 12 months ago.

I thank John Bosch for his patience as he has to wind in his line on numerous times and move the boat to allow me to retrieve my lure from a tree. Thankfully those times are getting less.

I encourage people to get out and improve their casting accuracy as it does allow you to place your lure where the fish are amongst the snags in our local dams.

By the time you have received this article the fishing competition will have closed for the year. Please send me your capture sheets so that I run the final report towards the end of July early August so that the club can finalise the results for this year's presentation night.

As we approach our general meeting I encourage all our members to consider taking a position on the committee. We are a small club and we need to share the job of running the club among our members. Several committee members have been in their positions for a number of years and it would be good if we could give them a rest from this role for a year. Our club is only as strong as our members who support the club.

Preparing and cooking Australian Salmon

by Anthony Heiser

A 1.72 kg Cemetery Beach Australian Salmon, courtesy of my new Shimano Catana from Otto's Tackle World Canberra

By the time this 'June' newsletter gets published, the new Club Year would have well and truly begun! With the new Club Year comes the new Total Length Species for Salt and Fresh Water. The target species for this year's Saltwater Total Length Competition is Australian Salmon (Arripis trutta). Trutta is Latin for Trout. Australian Salmon is also known as Kahawai in New Zealand.

Despite the common name, Australian Salmon are not related to the salmon family Salmonidae of the Northern Hemisphere, but belong to the order Perciformes of perch-like fishes. Australian salmon were named so by early European settlers after their superficial resemblance to the salmoniform fishes. In terms of taste and texture, Australian Salmon have little in common with salmoniform fishes. Which leads to my next point – while I am a big fan of the fighting qualities of Australian Salmon, I was not, until recently, a big fan of their culinary qualities.

However, a couple of articles on the ABC News website last May bemoaning the lack of public enthusiasm for Australian Salmon lead me to a new tip: soak Australian Salmon fillets in milk before cooking them. I caught some nice Australian Salmon off Cemetery Beach last May and tried soaking the fillets in milk for an hour in the fridge. I then cooked some of the fillets into fish cakes and crumbed and fried some of the fillets. I must say, soaking the fillets in milk resulted in some of the sweetest and clean tasting crumbed fish I've eaten in a long time.

Apparently, fish contains a compound called trimethylamine oxide (or TMAO for short). TMAO is odourless and regulates proteins in fish – for example, it counteracts urea in Sharks and Rays and counteracts the protein-destabilizing effects of pressure in deep-sea fish and crustaceans. After a fish dies, TMAO degrades into trimethylamine (TMA) which gives seafood that 'fishy' smell. Soaking fish fillets in milk for 30 to 60 minutes apparently does two things: it softens the fish (making it less chewy) and the milk binds with TMA and removes it from the fish (making it less 'fishy').

So based on what I've learnt recently, I recommend bleeding your Australian Salmon immediately upon capture and then keeping it in an ice slurry to slow down the rate at which TMAO degrades into TMA. Fillet the fish as soon as possible after fishing and skin the fillets, removing as much of the red meat as possible (if you don't like wasting the red offcuts, you can cook them in boiling water and then feed them to your cats). Then soak the fillets in milk for 30 to 60 minutes. Another tip I have read but not tried yet is to defrost frozen fillets in milk.

Since we didn't get any articles submitted for this newsletter, I will shamelessly fill up some space by re-publishing some of my Australian Salmon recipes from previous newsletters. I have used these recipes before I discovered the soaking the fillets in milk trick. My Mum's fish cake recipe definitely tastes better after soaking the fillets in milk. I have not tried this technique with the other two recipes and can't say whether soaking the fillets in milk would improve those recipes.

Australian Salmon caught off Brou Beach, 2010.

Mum's fish cake recipe adapted for Australian Salmon

Ingredients

- 500 g Australian Salmon
- 500 g Potatoes (with jacket on is ok)
- 40 g Coriander
- 150 g Onion
- 80 g Thai Season paste
- 1-2 Eggs
- Lemon Pepper
- Salt and Pepper
- Breadcrumbs
- Plain Flour
- Oil
- Butter

I usually go half and half with the Australian Salmon and Potatoes and then do as I please with the remaining ingredients but the ingredients I've listed here should give you a guide. Mum uses tinned tuna and uses ginger instead of Thai Season Paste.

Boil the potatoes and mash. Don't overcook the potatoes or mash them to a pulp.

Cook chopped onions on fry pan with oil

Dice the salmon and season with garlic, lemon pepper and Thai seasoning and put in boiling water and take out as soon as it is cooked. Drain salmon and put in bowl and break up into small pieces with a fork. Then mix with mashed potato and onions and add some bread crumbs so the mixture isn't too sloppy. Add salt and pepper to taste.

When the mixture has cooled down a bit, grab a hand full of mixture, roll into a ball and then flatten. Coat the rissole in flour, then dunk in egg and coat with bread crumbs. Heat oil in fry pan and add a little butter and heat up the grill.

Cook each side of the rissole in the fry pan to get the golden colour. Then place rissoles on tray and place in grill to fully cook it.

Thai Fish Cakes

Thai Fish Cakes and Smoked Australian Salmon

Ingredients

- 450 g Australian Salmon fillets with the red bits removed and diced.
- ¼ cup corn flour
- 1 tablespoon of fish sauce
- 3 tablespoons of fresh coriander (or you can use as much as you like)
- 3 teaspoons of Thai Red Curry Paste
- 2 teaspoons of fresh red chillies (or more if you like)
- 2 spring onions finely chopped
- Sweet chilli sauce or other dipping sauce for serving.

Process the fish in a blender for 20 seconds or until smooth.

Then add the cornflour, fish sauce, coriander, curry paste, and chillies and blend for a further 20 to 30 seconds.

Transfer to a bowl and mix in the spring onions.

With wet hands, make roundish patties using two tablespoons of mixture per pattie.

Cook the pattie in a fry pan with oil on medium-low heat until golden brown on both sides.

Drain oil off patties on a paper towel and serve with sweet chilli sauce.

Smoked Australian Salmon fillets

Ingredients

- Salmon fillets with skin on
- Maple syrup
- Salt

This is a pretty simple recipe I got from Steve Samuels when I was trying to find out how to smoke trout. This recipe seems to work very well on Australian Salmon although I was not too impressed when I tried it on Tailor. I like to season my fillets with plenty of crushed salt and then brush generous amounts of maple syrup over the fillets. I assume most people know how to smoke fish either in their smoker or on their barbecue. If you don't have a smoker, you can probably use your barbecue to smoke the fish. I have a gas barbecue with a lid and I place a metal tray of wood chips from Barbecues Galore over the flame and under the grill side of hot plate. Once the wood chips are smoking, I just place the fillets skin side on the other side of the hot plate and close the lid for 15 minutes and they're cooked.

Total Length Award species for 2017-18

The Total Length Awards bring on healthy competition from the ranks of the CFC and for 2017-18, the target species are Australian Salmon for the Saltwater section and all Salmonoid species (which includes Brown Trout, Rainbow Trout, Brook Trout, Atlantic Salmon and Chinook Salmon). The new target species applies from 1 July 2017.

The target species for the 2017-18 fishing year are:

Saltwater section: Australian Salmon

Freshwater section: All Salmonoid species

How many metres can you catch?

Thank you to the sponsors of the 2017 Canberra Carp Out!

We thank you for support and for being such a big part of this year's event!

From the Editor

This newsletter is a little later than usual but that couldn't be helped. I didn't get all the reports until after the end of the financial year. I've been working long hours the last few weeks (and will be until the end of July) and not getting the reports on time meant a bit of a delay until I was free to work on the newsletter again.

I also didn't receive any articles from the members and I was considering publishing the newsletter last weekend with just the three reports from Glen, Mick and Kevin.

However, I decided to 'pad' out the newsletter somewhat by rehashing some articles – and given that a new Club Year has begun with Australian Salmon as the Saltwater Total Length Species, I decided it was a good time to rehash my Australian Salmon recipes. And since the last newsletter, the culinary qualities of Australian Salmon featured in two articles on the ABC News website:

- Australia's wild salmon stocks are healthy, but no-one's biting
- War on waste: Australians ignoring cheap, sustainable fish over farmed and foreign varieties

A big thank you to the two people that submitted photos to the May Photo Comp. It was light on during May but we have some great entries in June. So far, we have no entries for July. Please start sending me your entries for the July photo comp competition for a chance to win a $20 Tackle World voucher if you are the monthly winner.

The rules if the photo comp are:

- Members can submit up to two photos per month
- The photo must either be taken by the member submitting the photo or a photo of the member
- No photo shopping or other digital enhancements are allowed

Finally, if you have some gear to sell, swap, wanted or barter then send through the details to info@canberrafishos.com. Also, a reminder for the lucky member number draw at each general meeting, you must be there to win the cash or it JACKPOTS each week until a winning member is present.

Thank you to everyone at OTWC for supporting this photo competition. More than that, thank you OTWC for the ongoing support extended to the Canberra Fisherman's Club throughout the fishing year. Not to mention, thank you for continually stocking such a great range of gear and always being happy to extend some of the best fishing advice available in Canberra.
